

Arts Broadcasting

Radio Adelaide offers you a comprehensive and highly effective promotional tool for targeting arts lovers through our extensive arts programming. Our diverse program focus on the arts, ideas, lifelong learning, news, local issues, current affairs and good music in many genres. We are a key player in Adelaide's cultural, intellectual and social life -- an Adelaide that is multi-cultural, multi-generational, accessible, interested in new challenges and new worlds.

Radio Adelaide airs 50 Arts programs every week including flagship programs Arts Breakfast on Saturday mornings, Writers Radio, Saturday afternoons and nationally; The Range, every weekday afternoon, and State of Play, Monday evenings.

We provide air time via interviews with - and performances by - the most accomplished artists in the world in fields that include visual arts, music, theatre, dance, cabaret, literature, film, multimedia ...

We provide access for both emerging artists and emerging arts broadcasters, so we regularly broadcast new and developing artists from a variety of genres and cultures.

Our focus is proudly local, aiming to present, celebrate and promote South Australian artists and activities to local FM audiences as well as to national and international listeners via satellite broadcasts and internet RealAudio streaming.

Our exceptional arts broadcasters include:

Dr Cath Kenneally - published author and regular book reviewer for The Weekend Australian and Sydney Morning Herald, with over 15 years experience as a national arts broadcaster

Ewart Shaw - opera critic for The Advertiser with 25 years of experience as an arts broadcaster

Dr Nick Prescott - respected film critic for The Advertiser, ABC On-line and lecturer at Flinders University

Our Festival coverage is extensive including

Adelaide Festival of the Arts - dedicated programming throughout the Festival

Adelaide Fringe Festival - live on location for Festival with the most comprehensive coverage

Adelaide Festival of Ideas - we record every session, providing a fortnight special season and online audio

Womadelaide - our national coverage across the University and Community and Indigenous Radio network is a multi-award winner and reaches an audience of more than one million listeners

Adelaide Writers Week - we record the lot and broadcast the best of it throughout the year

Live Music Fest - our own Festival of local sounds - one week where every program celebrates the diversity of Adelaide's musical cultures

Feast - we're a committed partner of Adelaide's queer cultural festival, each November, providing coverage and creating our own artistic contributions plus partnerships with a wide range of community festivals and cultural events.
